McLaughlin & Co. will sell the pools. C. H. Orten, of Pittsburgh, will distribute the score cards. Mayer's brass band will furnish the music, and there will be a grand exhibition of fine agricultural implements by prominent dealers and manufacturers, which will be a great attraction to the show. The association can give more space to that class of exhibtors at this meeting than they can at the fair in the fall. As to the display of agricultural machinery, all know that it is the right time of the year for the farmer to buy what implements he needs before the harvest, and he can see them in motion at this meeting and then make his selection. The manufacturers or dealers who make an exhibit are the persons who will reap a big harvest in selling their machinery. Arrangements have been made with all railways entering the city for cheap excursion rates. Everybody should attend and assist the association in this meeting, for the fair held last fall was not a financial success, on account of rain.

Transfers Hecorded. The Wheeling and Dayton ball clubs layed another game at Island park yesterday afternoon and the Wheeling eam again won, this time by a score of 2 to 7. The game, which was witne ed by about 350 people, was one of the nost uninteresting ever seen here, the playing on both sides being ragged all the way through, so spiritless as to make the game a tiresome one for the spectators. There were really only two plays that aroused anything like enthusiasm. One of these was a wonderful circus catch made by McCollum in the seventh inning of a long and hot hit from Dunn's bat. seventh inning of a long and hot hit from Dunn's bat. McCollum had a long run for it and then caught it with one hand, but he was going so fast that he nearly went out of sight over the hill before he could stop and show that he had the ball. The other play referred to as a notable one was in the sixth inning, when Bowman did about the only thing in the game that he deserved credit for by catching Fogarty napping at third, and firing the ball down to Dunn so quickly that Fogarty felt called upon to apply for a search warrant for his head.

Dewald started in to pitch, but he was exploded before the first inning was over. O'Rourke opened things up with a two-bagger: Ryan followed with a sacrifice, going out at first on an assist by Fogerty; Dunn hit for three bases and would have had a home run had it not been for a buggy in far left field that stopped the ball. Green hit to Chrisman, who made a bad error in handling the ball; Speidel got a hit; Bowman knocked a fly into McCollum's hands, who muffed it in a horrible manner; Hobrecht knocked out a three-bayerer and Solliwan and Transfers Recorded.

Parvention of disease is both rational and scientific. If one knows the causes of most diseases, and can't remove that cause, the diseases must disappear. Frof. William H.
